

Feature Request - Copy & Paste key mapping

Posted by GuyKelly - 2009/11/04 16:04

---

Hi Brian,

I have been a happy user of AT for many years now but one thing that often still catches me out frequently is the copy & paste functions. I'd like to be able to use CTRL-C and CTRL-V for copy and paste. Purely a habitual thing but it catches out everyone who uses AT at some point I'm sure.

I would like to have maybe a radio button in VT Options to be able to select CTRL-C and CTRL-V instead of CTRL-Insert and SHIFT-Insert for cut & paste. Alternatively, a method to achieve this using the key mapping would be helpful but I haven't been able to get that working yet.

Cheers and keep up the good work

Guy Kelly

=====

Re:Feature Request - Copy & Paste key mapping

Posted by bpence - 2009/11/04 17:30

---

You're in luck! You can do this already with the key mapping. Just add a mapping for cntr-c to the text 'CMD-copy' and add another mapping for ctrl-v to the text 'CMD-paste'.

Check out this page for this and other special mappings:

<http://www.celestialsoftware.net/terminal-features/keyboard-mapping.html>

Brian

=====